DEFENDANT GREATER ROCKFORD AIRPORT AUTHORITY’S MEMORANDUM
IN SUPPORT OF RULE 12(b)(1) MOTION TO DISMISS FOR LACK OF STANDING

NOW COME Defendants, THE GREATER ROCKFORD AIRPORT AUTHORITY, THE GREATER ROCKFORD AIRPORT AUTHORITY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS,<sup>1</sup> and MICHAEL P. DUNN, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE GREATER ROCKFORD AIRPORT AUTHORITY, by and through their undersigned attorneys, and for their Memorandum in Support of their Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff’s Complaint for lack of standing pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, state as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION

Natural Land Institute’s (“NLI”) Complaint seeks declaratory and injunctive relief to prevent scheduled roadwork and an expansion of a Midfield Cargo Development on the grounds of the Chicago Rockford International Airport owned and operated by the Greater Rockford Airport Authority, alleging that the development would violate environmental regulations and harm its members’ alleged aesthetic and recreational interests in the Bell Bowl Prairie (the “Prairie”) located on the grounds of the airport. NLI, however, does not have standing to bring its claims against the moving Defendants as it fails to adequately allege that its members would be injured by the expansion in the area and evidentiary matters demonstrate NLI and its members have no rights or interests with respect to the Prairie. Therefore, Plaintiff fails to establish standing, as required under Article III of the U.S. Constitution, and its Complaint should be dismissed.

II. BACKGROUND

The land that is the subject of this action, including the land encompassing the subject Prairie, is owned by the Greater Rockford Airport Authority (“GRAA”), and located in Winnebago County, Illinois, approximately five miles south of the City of Rockford’s central business district. Plaintiff challenges GRAA’s proposed expansion of its cargo operation due to the alleged impact the construction would have on the Prairie, a remnant dry gravel hill, located on the grounds of the Chicago Rockford International Airport (“RFD”). RFD is owned and operated by GRAA.

GRAA was formed in 1946, under the Illinois Airport Authorities Act (the “Act”), 70 ILCS 5/0.01. The lands RFD presently sits on were deeded to GRAA on August 11, 1948, in fee simple absolute, by the United States of America. See Exhibit 1 to the Declaration of Zack Oakley (“Oakley Declaration”), attached hereto and incorporated herein as Exhibit A.

To meet existing needs, as well as accommodate the growth in its cargo operations, GRAA proposed a $50 million dollar plan to construct additional air cargo facilities on its grounds. The forty-year development plan for the airport, already settled after public hearings and required approvals, first envisioned development of the real estate located on the north side of the Runway. That area is now full. The remaining acreage for development is the Midfield, located on the south side of the Runway. The area of the Midfield Air Cargo Development is approximately 280 acres in size and contains primarily agricultural land, open fallow fields, airfield infrastructure, and the Prairie. Prior to commencing construction, GRAA pursued all required regulatory approvals, including evaluation of the environmental impacts of the project. Regulatory bodies evaluating the plans included the Federal Aviation Administration, the United States Department of the Interior, the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, and the Illinois Department of Transportation.

On November 25, 2019, the FAA issued a Finding of No Significant Impact in relation to the planned expansion of RFD by GRAA, stating:

After careful and thorough consideration of the facts contained herein, the undersigned finds that the proposed FAA actions are consistent with existing national environmental policies and objectives as set forth in Section 101(a) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEOA) and will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment or otherwise include any condition requiring consultation pursuant to Section 102(2)(c) of NEPA. Having met all relevant requirements for environmental considerations and consultation, the proposed development/actions are authorized to be undertaken.

See Pl.'s Mem. in Supp. of Mot. for T.R.O., Ex. I, p. 2.

In August 2021, a single foraging Rusty Patched Bumble Bee was allegedly found on or about the land constituting the Prairie. The Rusty Patched Bumble Bee was designated as an endangered species under the Endangered Species Act in 2017. See Endangered Species Status for the Rusty Patched Bumble Bee, Proposed Rule, 81 Fed. Reg. 65,324, 65,325 (Sep. 22, 2016); Final Rule, 82 Fed. Reg. 3,186 (Jan. 11, 2017). However, federal regulations do not require the designation of a critical habitat for this species because the “threatened destruction, modification, or curtailment of habitat is not the primary threat to the species, and the availability of habitat does not limit the conservation of the rusty patched bumble bee now, nor will it in the future.” Endangered and Threatened Wildlife and Plants; Endangered Species Status for Rusty Patched Bumble Bee, 85 Fed. Reg. 54,281 (Jan. 11, 2017).

On October 26, 2021, Plaintiff filed its Complaint for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief, and on October 27, 2021, it filed a Motion for Temporary Restraining Order and/or Preliminary Injunction, seeking to halt the construction. On October 28, 2021, GRAA paused its plans for construction until Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) consultation activities regarding the Prairie with the US Fish & Wildlife Service (USFWS) are concluded.

III. LEGAL STANDARD

A motion to dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1) challenges the existence of subject matter jurisdiction. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1). The party invoking federal jurisdiction bears the burden of establishing that subject matter jurisdiction is proper. See Remijas v. Neiman Marcus Grp., LLC, 794 F.3d 688, 691 (7th Cir. 2015). The plaintiff must have standing in order for the court to have subject matter jurisdiction to adjudicate the claims before it. Lujan v. Defs. of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560–61 (1992) (hereinafter “Lujan II”).

To evaluate a challenge to subject matter jurisdiction, the court must first determine whether a factual or facial challenge has been raised. Apex Dig., Inc. v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 572 F.3d 440, 433 (7th Cir. 2009). A factual challenge contends, “there is in fact no subject matter jurisdiction,” even if the pleadings are formally sufficient. Id. at 444. In reviewing a factual challenge, the court may look beyond the pleadings and view any evidence submitted to determine if subject matter jurisdiction exists. Id. In contrast, a facial challenge argues that the plaintiff has not sufficiently “alleged a basis of subject matter jurisdiction.” Id. at 443. In the present matter, GRAA and Michael P. Dunn, Executive Director of the Greater Rockford Airport Authority (collectively the “GRAA Defendants”), make a factual challenge to subject matter jurisdiction.

IV. ARGUMENT

Federal district courts maintain “original jurisdiction of all civil actions arising under the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States.” 28 U.S.C. § 1331. Article III of the United States Constitution defines the proper scope of the federal court jurisdiction, or standing, as limited to adjudicating “cases” and “controversies.” Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 559–60. To establish Article III standing, “a plaintiff must show (1) it has suffered an ‘injury in fact’ that is (a) concrete and particularized and (b) actual or imminent, not conjectural or hypothetical; (2) the injury is fairly traceable to the challenged action of the defendant; and (3) it is likely, as opposed to merely speculative, that the injury will be redressed by a favorable decision.” Friends of the Earth, Inc. v. Laidlaw Envtl. Servs. (TOC), Inc., 528 U.S. 167, 180–181 (2000) (citing Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 560–61). As the party invoking federal jurisdiction, a plaintiff bears the burden of establishing the elements of Article III standing. Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 561.

Organizations do not have standing as such to represent their particular concept of the public interest, but organizations have been permitted to assert the rights of their members. Organizational standing allows an organization to sue on behalf of its members “even without a showing of injury to the association itself.” United Food & Commercial Workers Union Local 751 v. Brown Grp., Inc., 517 U.S. 544, 552 (1996). To sue on behalf of its members via organizational standing, an organization must show: (1) at least one of its members would “have standing to sue in their own right”; (2) “the interests it seeks to protect are germane to the organization's purpose”; and (3) “neither the claim asserted nor the relief requested requires the participation of individual members.” Hunt v. Wash. State Apple Advert. Com'n, 432 U.S. 333, 343 (1977); Sierra Club, 546 F.3d at 924. Without individual affidavits of the members, a court cannot assure itself that an organization's members use the area affected by the challenged activity or will be burdened by the challenged activity. Summers v. Earth Island Institute, 555 U.S. 488, 499 (2009). As such, an organization is required to identify members who have suffered the requisite injury. Id.

In the present case, NLI has failed to adequately show, by a preponderance of the evidence, that NLI or its members have standing under Article III. As such, NLI's Complaint should be dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1) for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

A. NLI AND ITS MEMBERS CANNOT ESTABLISH AN INJURY IN FACT AS NEITHER NLI OR ITS MEMBERS HAVE ANY RIGHT TO VISIT, USE, OR ENJOY THE SUBJECT LANDS

NLI is unable to establish an injury in fact to its own or its members' legally protected interests because NLI and its members have no right to use, enjoy, or visit the lands affected by the planned development. As NLI cannot establish standing for itself or its members, the Complaint should be dismissed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

In its pleadings, NLI asserts that the organization was given custody and responsibility to manage the Bell Bowl Prairie, by GRAA, as part of a Master Plan and Resolution passed on November 1, 1977. See Pl.'s Compl., ¶ 64; Pl.'s Mem. in Supp. of Mot. for T.R.O., Ex. F, App. 11. However, this contention is without a basis. There is no record that GRAA ever reviewed or approved the document. The Resolution is not signed by either GRAA or NLI and does not form the basis of an agreement. Nothing in the cited Resolution transfers any sort of interest in the land to NLI. In fact, the Resolution expressly provides, "the Greater Rockford Airport Authority shall make every effort possible to preserve as a nature preserve the area outlined in red on the map attached to this Resolution so long as the preservation of the same as a nature preserve shall not interfere with the necessary operation of Airport." Pl.'s Mem. in Supp. of Mot. for T.R.O., Ex. F, App. 11. GRAA has never been provided a copy of the map referred to in the Resolution, nor does GRAA have any record that the Resolution was approved by the Board of Commissioners on November 1, 1977, or any other date.

The issue whether the resolution was ever passed is moot, however, because at its December 15, 2021 board meeting, the GRAA Board of Commissioners made and acted on a Resolution that provides that the purported Resolution dated November 1, 1977, if it was ever passed by the Board of Commissioners, is hereby repealed, and held for naught. Moreover, on November 8, 2021, GRAA sent a letter to NLI stating, "[t]he Authority is not aware of any written agreement between Natural Land Institute and the Authority. However, if any such agreement does exist, notice is hereby given that any such contract or agreement is terminated effective immediately.” See Exhibit 2 to the Oakley Declaration (Ex. A), Letter from Paul R. Cicero, Chairman of the Board of Commissioners of GRAA to Kerry Leigh, Executive Director, Natural Land Institute, dated Nov. 8, 2021. Therefore, even if the alleged November 1, 1977 resolution was ever approved by the GRAA Board of Commissioners, or if there ever was an agreement between GRAA and NLI, the resolution was effectively repealed and rescinded pursuant to Resolutions 20-71 passed by the GRAA Board of Commissions on December 15, 2021 and any agreement has been terminated. See Exs. 2 and 4 to the Oakley Declaration (Ex. A).

The facts and circumstances of this case show that NLI does not and cannot possibly satisfy the first element of standing, that NLI or its members suffered an injury in fact. To satisfy this element, a plaintiff must have suffered an injury of a legally protected interest which is both (a) concrete and particularized, and (b) actual or imminent, not conjectural or hypothetical. Lujan II, 504 U.S. 555 at 560. The Supreme Court has held that “environmental plaintiffs adequately allege injury in fact when they aver that they use the affected area and are persons ‘for whom the aesthetic and recreational values of the area will be lessened’ by the challenged activity.” Friends of the Earth, Inc. v. Laidlaw Envtl. Servs. (TOC), Inc., 528 U.S. 187, 181 (2000). NLI cannot demonstrate that NLI or its members have suffered a concrete and particularized injury which is actual or imminent and not conjectural or hypothetical, and thus cannot establish standing.

The subject land at issue in this case is privately-owned land which is inaccessible to the public. As set forth in the Oakley Declaration (Ex. A), the subject land is owned by GRAA. The subject land was dedicated by the federal government to GRAA to be used for the operation of the business of GRAA including ownership and operation of the RFD airport. See Ex. 1 to the Oakley Declaration. The deed transferring the property to GRAA provides, in relevant part,

“[n]o property transferred by this instrument shall be used, leased, sold, salvaged or disposed of by the [Authority] for other than airport purposes without the written consent of the Civil Aeronautics Administrator, which shall be granted only if said Administrator determines that the property can be used, leased, sold, salvaged or disposed of for other than airport purposes without materially and adversely affecting the development, improvement, operation or maintenance of the airport . . .”

A copy of the deed is Exhibit 1 to the Oakley Declaration (Ex. A). The land at issue is owned by GRAA, and as determined by GRAA, is not accessible to the public. The subject land is located between two existing runways of RFD and essentially surrounded by the airport. Pl.’s Mem. in Supp. of Mot. for T.R.O., Ex. H. As the owner of the property, the GRAA is the only party that has the authority and right to allow persons onto the subject lands. The public, including NLI and its members, simply have no right to use, enjoy, or visit the subject land. GRAA has fenced in the subject lands, posted no trespassing signs, and has informed NLI that its members and agents are not allowed on the subject property. See Oakley Declaration (Ex. A), at ¶¶ 4–6. Since NLI has no right to be on the property, they cannot possibly establish the development will lessen their recreational or aesthetic use of the property. Unlike a public park, NLI and its members simply have no right to use or enjoy the property and will not have such right or ability in the future.

Although NLI alleges that the Prairie is “publicly owned,” this conclusory allegation and phraseology is misleading. See Pl.’s Compl., ¶ 63. The fact that the land on which the RFD airport is situated is owned by a public entity, GRAA, does not mean that the property is open to the public. See, e.g., U.S. Postal Serv. v. Council of Greenburgh Civic Ass’ns, 453 U.S. 114, 129 (1981); Greer v. Spock, 424 U.S. 828, 836 (1976) (“[t]he State, no less than a private owner of property, has power to preserve the property under its control for the use to which it is lawfully dedicated.”). It is common sense that, unlike a public park, airports are not freely open to the public and that public access to most areas, other than clearly designated spaces, such as passenger terminals, is restricted. As the owner of the subject property, GRAA has, at least, the same rights as a private owner of property to exclude persons from the property and restrict the use of the property for its own purposes. See Int'l Soc'y For Krishna Consciousness v. Lee, 505 U.S. 672, 679 (1992) (“Where the government is acting as a proprietor, managing its internal operations, rather than acting as a lawmaker with the power to regulate or license, its action will not be subjected to the heightened review to which its actions as a lawmaker may be subject.”). NLI has no right to use or enjoy the property and cannot prove an injury caused by the inability to use or enjoy property owned by a third party.

NLI attempts to support its own standing by alleging that GRAA allowed NLI, as well as others, to have some limited access to the Prairie in the past. Such discretionary access to the property does not support its assertion of standing in this case. Any access to the Prairie previously allowed to NLI or its members was subject to the discretion of GRAA. GRAA has exclusive authority, as the owner of the property, whether to allow any access to the property. While NLI vaguely asserts it has an agreement with GRAA to access the lands, there is no agreement, written or otherwise, entitling NLI, or its members, to freely access the lands without GRAA’s consent. NLI relies on unsigned documents to allege there is an agreement between NLI and GRAA, but even those unsigned documents show that any access previously allowed to NLI was subject to GRAA’s discretion and right of termination. The issue of an agreement is moot, however, because GRAA provided notice to NLI on November 8, 2021, that any such agreement, if any even existed or remained effective, was terminated. See Exhibit 3 to the Oakley Declaration (Ex. A) (attaching a copy of the termination notice). NLI has also been informed, via legal counsel, that NLI and its members are not allowed on the property. See Exhibit 2 to the Oakley Declaration (Ex. A). As such, NLI cannot possibly demonstrate that NLI or its members will suffer a concrete, particularized injury by the development of the subject lands which they are not allowed, and have no right, to visit, use, or enjoy now or any time in the future.

Because the land at issue in the present matter is private and inaccessible to the public including NLI and its members, and because any agreement between NLI and GRAA has been terminated and any related resolution has been repealed, NLI and its members have no right to visit, use, or enjoy the subject property. As such, NLI and its members have suffered no injury in fact by the development of land which they have no right to visit, use, or enjoy. Therefore, NLI's asserted injury is conjectural and hypothetical, not concrete and particularized, and thus its members cannot establish the requisite injury in fact to support standing.

B. THE DECLARATIONS OF NLI'S MEMBERS DO NOT ESTABLISH THAT THE MEMBERS HAVE SUFFERED AN ACTUAL OR THREATENED INJURY IN FACT

Even if NLI or its members could establish a right to go on the subject lands, the declarations of NLI's members fail to establish an injury in fact suffered by them. In support of its purported associational standing, NLI attaches to its Complaint declarations of three of its members, John White, Zachary Grycan, and Jennifer Kuroda. None of the declarants' averments, however, establish a concrete, particularized injury, to their interests, resulting from GRAA's proposed development of RFD. As NLI cannot demonstrate associational standing without showing at least one of its members has suffered an injury in fact, NLI cannot possibly satisfy the requirements to sue on behalf of its members.

Plaintiff's first declarant, John White, is a plant ecologist and nature preservationist living in Urbana, Illinois, and just set foot on the land "last month." Pl.'s Compl., Ex. A, ¶ 25. Mr. White's averments do not establish standing for himself individually or for NLI. See Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 565–66 (“[P]laintiffs claiming injury from environmental damage must use the area affected by the challenged activity.”). Mr. White does not have concrete plans to visit the site again, as he states, “[i]f I can expand my research to include a dry prairie in northern Illinois, I would choose Bell Bowl Prairie as my study site.” Pl.’s Compl, Ex. A, ¶ 37. As Mr. White does not aver that he visits or uses the affected area, other than one prior visit, and as he does not declare any plans to visit, use, or enjoy the subject property in the future (and could not possibly do so as he has no right to go on the land as set forth above), his declaration fails to establish a concrete, particularized injury. Moreover, “a mere ‘interest in a problem,’ no matter how longstanding the interest and no matter how qualified the organization is in evaluating the problem, is not sufficient by itself to render the organization ‘adversely affected’ or ‘aggrieved.’ ” Sierra Club v. Morton, 405 U.S. 727, 739 (1972). As such, Plaintiff has failed to establish that Mr. White has standing in his own right, and thus NLI cannot invoke associational standing for this member.

Plaintiff’s second declarant, Zachary Grycan, is the Director of Stewardship of NLI and has worked for NLI since 2015. Mr. Grycan’s declaration provides that he accompanied a group “late this summer to survey the prairie and enjoy its beauty.” Pl.’s Compl., Ex. B, p. 3. He also “personally participated in the removal of invasive species at Bell Bowl Prairie,” and “photographed the Rusty Patched Bumble Bee.” Pl.’s Compl., Ex. B, pp. 4–5. It is unclear from the declaration when these visits took place, how frequently they occurred, and whether Mr. Grycan was acting as an agent or employee for NLI during the visits. Such missing facts cannot simply be assumed by the court. See Lujan v. Nat’l Wildlife Fed’n, 497 U.S. 871, 889 (1990) (“it will not do to ‘presume’ the missing facts because without them the affidavits would not establish the injury that they generally allege”). Simply stating that the individual members of a group live, study work, and recreate near a location is insufficient to establish standing. Prairie Rivers Network v. Dynegy Midwest Generation, LLC, 2 F.4th 1002 (7th Cir. 2021); see also Summers, 555

U.S. at 495 (finding that affidavit did not establish constitutional standing for organization because member's testimony was too generalized and did not identify imminent injury at a particular site). The declaration of Mr. Grycan does not establish that he regularly visits, uses, and enjoys the subject property or that he plans to in the future. He simply states that he is “holding out hope that . . . Natural Land Institute will be allowed to manage the prairie.” Pl.’s Compl, Ex. B, p. 7. Even if Mr. Grycan had future plans to return to the Prairie, he has no right to go on the lands as set forth above. As such, the declaration of Mr. Grycan also fails to establish standing in his own right.

Plaintiff’s third declarant, Jennifer Kuroda, is the president of the board for the Sinmissippi Audubon Society. Ms. Kuroda lives eleven miles from the Prairie and has “walked, photographed, and birdwatched at the Bell Bowl Prairie, as well as participated in bird counts over the years.” Pl.’s Compl., Ex. C, ¶¶ 3–4. Specifically, in the fall of 2020 she “went to Bell Bowl Prairie with a local falconer to observe several American Kestrels.” Pl.’s Compl., Ex. C, ¶ 8. She also states she visited the area on “September 17, 2021, . . . [and] was able to observe a pair of Red Tailed Hawks, . . . Eastern Meadowlark and Killdeer.” Pl.’s Compl., Ex. C, ¶ 9. Most recently she visited the area “on September 23, 2021, . . . with John Jack White . . . to learn about the high level of biodiverse plant life.” Pl.’s Compl, Ex. C, ¶ 10. She states that she hopes “that people, including my own children, will be able to enjoy places like Bell Bowl Prairie and the incredible amount of diversity that exists there for many years to come.” Pl.’s Compl, Ex. C, ¶ 12. Ms. Kuroda’s declaration does not establish that she regularly uses or visits the Prairie, or that she has concrete plans to do so in the future. Moreover, she has no right or ability to use or enjoy the Prairie now or in the future. As such, the declaration of Ms. Kuroda also fails to establish standing for NLI.

Plaintiffs fail to allege they have suffered an injury that is “actual or imminent, not ‘conjectural or hypothetical.’” Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 560. Plaintiff’s “‘some day’ intentions—without any description of concrete plans, or indeed even any specification of when the some day will be—do not support a finding of the ‘actual or imminent’ injury that our cases require.” Summers, 555 U.S. at 496 (quoting Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 564). Plaintiff fails to allege how GRAA’s actions would result in an imminent injury to their members’ interests. This is insufficient and impermissible. See Summers, 555 U.S. at 496 (holding organizations did not have standing based on member’s purported intention to visit unnamed National Forests in the future); Shawnee Trail Conservancy v. Nicholas, 343 F.Supp.2d 687 (S.D. Ill. 2004) (holding organizations’ general allegations in the complaint that their members used national forest and had concrete plans to do so in the future were not enough to establish Article III standing).

Another important element of the standing doctrine is the prohibition against generalized grievances. Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 575. Where a plaintiff fails to demonstrate how a widely shared injury will impact the plaintiff in a particularized way, the Supreme Court has refused to find that the plaintiff has standing. See United States v. Richardson, 418 U.S. 166, 176–77 (1974) (stating that generalized grievances do not give rise to a concrete injury); Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 573–74. As stated previously, the Prairie is located on private property, and the declarants lack the right to enter the land, without permission from GRAA. See Protect Our Parks, Inc. v. Chicago Park District, 971 F.3d 722 (7th Cir. 2020) (“plaintiffs can’t repack an injury to the park as an injury to themselves”). NLI’s claims focus on GRAA’s activity on its private land, and the resulting impact to the Prairie, rather than harm to their concrete and particularized interests. In sum, the impact the challenged activity has on NLI is “plainly undifferentiated and ‘common to all members of the public.’” Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 575 (quoting Richardson, 418 U.S. at 171).

NLI’s attempt to exert control over the airport’s development is puzzling. While some plaintiffs have successfully used environmental claims to challenge activity adversely impacting their use and enjoyment of a property they owned, or publicly held land such as a federal or state park, the subject land in this case does not fit either category. The Prairie, situated next to an airport runway, is not an area used for “recreation” or “aesthetic enjoyment” by the public. Laidlaw, 528 U.S. at 183 (quoting Sierra Club v. Morton, 405 U.S. 727, 735 (1972)). The proposed construction is not situated near an NLI member’s home. See Covington v. Jefferson County, 358 F.3d 626 (9th Cir. 2003) (holding that homeowners have standing to sue where waste from defendant’s landfill caused the groundwater under plaintiffs’ property to be contaminated). The development cannot be analogized to pollution of a river or the air. See Citizens for a Better Env. v. Caterpillar, Inc., 30 F.Supp.2d 1053, 1057 (C.D. Ill. 1998) (members of a citizen group who lived near a river allege adequate standing where they discontinued use and recreation near the river due to pollution). As such, NLI has failed to allege an actual or imminent injury.

C. NLI CANNOT SHOW IT HAS STANDING BECAUSE THE ALLEGED INJURIES OF NLI AND ITS MEMBERS WILL NOT BE REDRESSED BY A FAVORABLE DECISION IN THIS CASE

One of the elements NLI must establish to show it has standing to bring its claim in this case is redressability. In addition to the injury in fact discussed above, NLI must also demonstrate that it is “likely,” as opposed to merely “speculative,” that the injury complained of will be “redressed by a favorable decision.” Lujan II, 504 U.S. at 560. Here, none of the relief sought in NLI’s Complaint—declaratory judgment that the FAA’s November 25, 2019 Final Environmental Assessment is no longer valid; declaratory judgment that the FAA’s and USFWS findings are arbitrary and capricious under the APA; an order requiring a supplemental environmental assessment; an injunction restraining the FAA and GRAA from further development; an injunction restraining GRAA from moving any plant or wildlife from the prairie or beginning construction until a supplemental environmental assessment and review; an injunction restraining GRAA from violating the alleged agreement with NLI; and to reimburse Plaintiff’s litigation expenses—would redress the “injuries” sustained by declarants, the NLI members who previously visited the Prairie, but no longer do so and have no specific plans to do so in the future. See Steel Co. v. Citizens for a Better Environment, 523 U.S. 83, 84–85 (1998); Caterpillar, Inc., 30 F.Supp. at 1061.

The relevant showing for Article III standing is not injury to the environment, but injury to the plaintiff. Laidlaw, 528 U.S. at 168 (2000). A positive ruling would not directly affect the declarants’ recreational or aesthetic interest because NLI’s members would still not have a right to visit the property. The land is not a national park, or a forest preserve; rather, it is situated next to a runway on private property. C.f. Sierra Club v. Marita, 46 F.3d (7th Cir. 1995) (citizen group’s use and enjoyment of specific national forests was sufficient to allege a concrete and legally cognizable injury); Heartwood, Inc. v. U.S. Forest Service, 230 F.3d 947 (7th Cir. 2000) (plaintiffs adequately alleged a concrete injury where they claimed that their use of certain national forests was harmed). Because NLI lacks a legal interest in the private land, a court ruling in their favor still would not create a right for them to visit, use, or enjoy the subject property. Plaintiffs have therefore failed to establish the element of redressability, as required for Article III standing. Accordingly, the GRAA Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss should be granted, and NLI’s Complaint should be dismissed pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1).

V. CONCLUSION

For all the reasons stated above, NLI fails to establish that NLI or its members have standing to assert its claims against the GRAA Defendants in this case. NLI and its members are unable to establish the requisite injury, and they cannot show that a favorable outcome in this case is likely to redress their purported injuries. Accordingly, the GRAA Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss should be granted, and NLI’s Complaint should be dismissed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1).

However, such land may be used, and any rights otherwise acquired by this disposition may be exercised, as if no reservation of such materials had been made; except that, when such use results in the extraction of any such material from the land in quantities which may not be transferred or delivered without a license under the Atomic Energy Act of 1946, as it now exists or may hereafter be amended, such materials shall be the property of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, and the Commission may require delivery of such material to it by any possessor thereof after any such material has been separated as such from the ores in which it was contained. If the Commission requires the delivery of such material to it, it shall pay to the person mining or extracting the same, or to such other person as the Commission determines to be entitled thereto, such sums, including profits, as the Commission deems fair and reasonable for the discovery, mining, development, production, extraction, and other services performed with respect to such material prior to such delivery, but such payment shall not include any amount on account of the value of such material before removal from its place of deposit in nature. If the Commission does not require delivery of such material to it, the reservation hereby made shall be of no further force or effect.

In addition, this conveyance is made subject to the right of the Public Housing Administration to use in place and/or dismantle and remove certain buildings and structures constituting the emergency housing unit as now located upon the area conveyed above, together with the right to use the land areas surrounding the said emergency housing unit with full rights of ingress and egress, necessary for the operation and/or dismantling of said housing unit, as determined by the Public Housing Administration, and to the usage of all utilities situate upon or under the said emergency housing area in accordance with the terms of the Agreement of Conveyance entered into between the United States of America, acting by and through the War Assets Administrator, and the Greater Rockford Airport Authority under date of November 25, 1947. It is agreed that the rights hereinabove reserved shall remain in force for so long as needed for the operation of the said emergency housing project, as determined by Public Housing Administration.

Said property transferred hereby was duly declared surplus and was assigned to the War Assets Administrator for disposal, acting pursuant to the provisions of the above mentioned Act, as amended, Reorganization Plan One of 1947, (12 Fed. Reg. 4534) and applicable rules, regulations and orders.

TO HAVE AND TO HOLD said premises, with appurtenances, except the fissionable materials and other property excepted above and the rights reserved above, and under and subject to the reservations, restrictions and conditions set forth in this instrument, unto the said party of the second part, its successors and assigns forever.

By the acceptance of this deed or any rights hereunder, the said party of the second part, for itself, its successors and assigns agrees that the transfer of the property transferred by this instrument, is accepted subject to the following restrictions set forth in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, which shall run with the land, imposed pursuant to the authority of Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution of the United States of America, the Surplus Property Act of 1944, as amended, Reorganization Plan One of 1947 (12 Fed. Reg. 4534) and applicable rules, regulations and orders:

- (1) That, except as provided in subparagraph (6) of the next succeeding unnumbered paragraph, the land, buildings, structures, improvements and equipment in which this instrument transfers any interest shall be used for public airport purposes for the use and benefit of the public, on reasonable terms and without unjust discrimination and without grant or exercise of any exclusive right for use of the airport within the meaning of the terms "exclusive right" as used in subparagraph (4) of the next succeeding paragraph. As used in this instrument, the term "airport" shall be deemed to include at least all such land, buildings, structures, improvements and equipment.
- (2) That, except as provided in subparagraph (6) of the next succeeding paragraph, the entire landing area, as defined in VAA Regulation 16, dated June 26, 1946, and all structures, improvements, facilities and equipment in which this instrument transfers any interest shall be maintained for the use and benefit of the public at all times in good and serviceable condition, provided, however, that such maintenance shall be required as to structures, improvements, facilities and equipment only during the remainder of their estimated life, as determined by the Civil Aeronautics Administrator or his successor. In the event materials are required to rehabilitate or repair certain of the aforementioned structures, improvements, facilities or equipment, they may be procured by demolition of other structures, improvements, facilities or equipment transferred hereby and located on the above described premises which have outlived their use as airport property in the opinion of the Civil Aeronautics Administrator or his successor.

By the acceptance of this deed or any rights hereunder, the said party of the second part for itself, its successors and assigns, also assumes the obligations of, covenants to abide by and agrees to, and this transfer is made subject to, the following reservations and restrictions set forth in subparagraphs (1) to (7), inclusive, of this paragraph, which shall run with the land, imposed pursuant to the authority of Article 4, Section 3, Clause 2 of the Constitution of the United States of America, the Surplus Property Act of 1944, as amended, Reorganization Plan One of 1947 (12 Fed. Reg. 4534) and applicable rules, regulations and orders:

- (1) That insofar as it is within its powers, the party of the second part shall adequately clear and protect the aerial approaches to the airport by removing, lowering, relocating, marking or lighting or otherwise mitigating existing airport hazards and by preventing the establishment or creation of future airport hazards.
- (2) That the United States of America (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Government") through any of its employees or agents shall at all times have the right to make non-exclusive use of the landing area of the airport at which any of the property transferred by this instrument is located or used, without charge: provided, however, that such use may be limited as may be determined at any time by the Civil Aeronautics Administrator or his successor to be necessary to prevent undue interference with use by other authorized aircraft: provided, further, that the Government shall be obligated to pay for damages caused by such use, or if its use of the landing area is substantial, to contribute a reasonable share of the cost of maintaining and operating the landing area, commensurate with the use made by it.

- (3) That during any national emergency declared by the President of the United States of America or the Congress thereof, the Government shall have the right to make exclusive or nonexclusive use and have exclusive or nonexclusive control and possession, without charge, of the airport at which any of the property transferred by this instrument is located or used, or of such portion thereof as it may desire, provided, however, that the Government shall be responsible for the entire cost of maintaining such part of the airport as it may use exclusively, or over which it may have exclusive possession or control, during the period of such use, possession, or control, and shall be obligated to contribute a reasonable share, commensurate with the use made by it, of the cost of maintenance of such property as it may use nonexclusively or over which it may have nonexclusive control and possession; provided, further, that the Government shall pay a fair rental for its use, control, or possession, exclusively or non-exclusively of any improvements to the airport made without United States aid.
- (4) That no exclusive right for the use of the airport at which the property transferred by this instrument is located shall be vested (directly or indirectly) in any person or persons to the exclusion of others in the same class, the term "exclusive right" being defined to mean:

627 406

- (1) any exclusive right to use the airport for conducting any particular aeronautical activity requiring operation of aircraft;
  - (2) any exclusive right to engage in the sale or supplying of aircraft, aircraft accessories, equipment or supplies (excluding the sale of gasoline and oil), or aircraft services necessary for the operation of aircraft (including the maintenance and repair of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, and appliances.)
- (5) That, except as provided in subparagraph (6) of this paragraph, the property transferred hereby may be successively transferred only with the proviso that any such subsequent transferee assumes all the obligations imposed upon the party of the second part by the provisions of this instrument.
- (6) That no property transferred by this instrument shall be used, leased, sold, salvaged, or disposed of by the party of the second part for other than airport purposes without the written consent of the Civil Aeronautics Administrator, which shall be granted only if said Administrator determines that the property can be used, leased, sold, salvaged or disposed of for other than airport purposes without materially and adversely affecting the development, improvement, operation or maintenance of the airport at which such property is located; provided, that no structures disposed of hereunder shall be used as an industrial plant factory, or similar facility within the meaning of Section 23 of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, as amended, unless the party of the second part shall pay to the United States such sum as the War Assets Administrator or his successor in function shall determine to be a fair consideration for the removal of the restriction imposed by this proviso.

(7) The party of the second part does hereby release the Government, and will take whatever action may be required by the War Assets Administrator to assure the complete release of the Government from any and all liability the Government may be under for restoration or other damages under any lease or other agreement covering the use by the Government of the airport, or part thereof, owned, controlled or operated by the party of the second part, upon which, adjacent to which, or in connection with which, any property transferred by this instrument was located or used; Provided, that no such release shall be construed as depriving the party of the second part of any right it may otherwise have to receive reimbursement under Section 17 of the Federal Airport Act for the necessary rehabilitation or repair of public airports heretofore or hereafter substantially damaged by any Federal Agency.

By acceptance of this instrument or any rights hereunder, the party of the second part further agrees with the party of the first part as follows:

- (1) That in the event that any of the aforesaid terms, conditions, reservations or restrictions is not met, observed, or complied with by the party of the second part or any subsequent transferee, whether caused by the legal inability of said party of the second part or subsequent transferee to perform any of the obligations herein set out, or otherwise, the title, right of possession and all other rights transferred by this instrument to the party of the second part, or any portion thereof, shall at the option of the party of the first part revert to the party of the first part sixty (60) days following the date upon which demand to this effect is made in writing by the Civil Aeronautics Administrator or his successor in function, unless within said sixty (60) days such default or violation shall have been cured and all such terms, conditions, reservations and restrictions shall have been met, observed or complied with , in which event said reversion shall not occur and title, right of possession, and all other rights transferred hereby, except such, if any, as shall have previously reverted, shall remain vested in the party of the second part, its transferees, successors and assigns.

(2) That if the construction as covenants of any of the foregoing reservations and restrictions recited herein as covenants or the application of the same as covenants in any particular instance is held invalid, the particular reservations or restrictions in question shall be construed instead merely as conditions upon the breach of which the Government may exercise its option to cause the title, right of possession and all other rights transferred to the party of the second part, or any portion thereof, to revert to it, and the application of such reservations or restrictions as covenants in any other instance and the construction of the remainder of such reservations and restrictions as covenants shall not be affected thereby.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the party of the first part has caused these presents to be executed as of the day and year first above written.

Re: Natural Land Institute v. The Greater Rockford Airport Authority, et al. (N. D. Ill.)
(Case No. 21-cv-50410)

Dear Joe:

I am writing on behalf of the Greater Rockford Airport Authority (the "Authority"). Attached is a copy of a letter that was sent to Carrie Leigh of the Natural Land Institute ("NLI"). The letter is self-explanatory.

In response to some of your questions raised in your previous emails and your letter dated November 5, 2021, please be advised that NLI and its agents will not be allowed access to the Airport's property going forward. As you know, the Airport is currently involved in a Section 7 Consultation with the FAA, USFWS and IDNR relating to the property owned by the Airport that is part of the cargo development project. The area needs to remain undisturbed during this process. In addition, NLI has made the land in question the subject of a lawsuit it filed in Federal Court and the Airport will not allow the land to be accessed during the pendency of that lawsuit. Finally, the land is private property. It is not a park. There is construction and heavy truck traffic in the area. For the safety of the public and all concerned, as well as the security of the Airport, public access to the property in question will not be allowed for any reason.

Your letter of November 5, 2021 refers to a contract or agreement. The Authority is not aware of any written agreement between NLI and the Authority. In your letter you state: "[A]s you are aware, NLI was formally given custody and responsibility of Bell Bowl Prairie by GRAA as part of a Master Plan and resolution passed November 1, 1977." First of all, nothing within the Resolution transfers control or custody of the so-called Bell Bowl Prairie to NLI. The Resolution does provide that "the Greater Rockford Airport Authority shall make every effort possible to preserve as a nature preserve the area outlined in red on the map attached to this Resolution so long as the preservation of the same as a nature preserve shall not interfere with the necessary operation of Airport." The Authority has never been provided a copy of the map referred to in the Resolution nor does the Authority have any record the Resolution was actually approved by the Board of Commissioners on November 1, 1977, or any other date. However, assuming arguendo the Resolution was passed by the Board of Commissioners and the map refers to the Bell Bowl Prairie, that property is now necessary for the operation of the Airport. Furthermore, the last paragraph of the Resolution talks about an agreement to be drafted for "management and access of said area to the Natural Land Institute... said agreement to be on a five year basis with renewal unless terminated by either party." While the Authority doesn't believe any such agreement was ever drafted or signed by the parties, even if such an agreement actually exists, it has been terminated by the Authority effective immediately by the attached letter.

NLI attached a document as Exhibit F to the Complaint titled Master Plan for Bell Bowl Prairie Winnebago County, Illinois. There is no record at the Authority that it ever reviewed or approved that document. That document is not signed by either the Authority or NLI and does not form the basis of an agreement. That document does not form or impose any legal obligations on either NLI or the Authority.

There is no dispute that over the years the Authority has voluntarily allowed NLI and others access to the Prairie area. However, there was never any agreement that the access would be permanent nor was there ever an agreement on the part of the Authority that it ever transferred custody of any of its property to NLI. The word custody does not appear in the November 1, 1977, Resolution.

As to any activity on the Bell Bowl Prairie, pursuant to the Stipulation, there is no grading, earth moving or other construction activity currently on any part of the Bell Bowl Prairie. There is vertical construction going on at the airfield on the 100,000 sq. ft. air cargo facility as well as an apron being constructed east of that building. The Stipulation, consistent with the prayer for relief in NLI's Complaint, only relates to construction activity on or in the Bell Bowl Prairie, not existing construction projects that are on the airfield. The Authority will abide by the Stipulation filed with the Court until the earlier of March 1, 2022 or when the lawsuit is dismissed by the Court.

Given the fact that NLI has chosen to file suit against the Authority and various other Defendants, the Authority is not going to confirm or deny any maps or photographs that you attached to your November 5, 2021 correspondence. In any event, those exhibits, if they can be authenticated, speak for themselves.

Finally, until the FAA, the USFWS and IDNR have completed their evaluation, the Authority does not believe that a meeting with NLI would be constructive and therefore declines NLI's invitation to meet this Thursday.

Very truly yours,

Thomas J. Lester
